What sets Alpine Consulting at the forefront is our hands-on experience and commitment to client success. Alpine Consulting builds quality solutions needed by business’s today, while providing strong eCommerce foundations for tomorrow

HOW CAN ALPINE HELP?

As an Enterprise Partner with Magento, Alpine is able to resell the enterprise and professional versions of the solution along with supporting the open-source version and helping to build out the products capabilities.

Alpine Expert Consulting:

Many of our Magento clients see Alpine as an extension of Magento. Our expert developers and architects help create and get the most out of any Magento install while keeping costs reasonable. Our staff is highly trained and certified in many ecommerce technologies and can assist on an ad-hoc basis or contract term. Our experts can work with you on new or existing architecture concerns, performance bottlenecks or any type of direction with application development.

Alpine Internal UI Team:

Alpine has our own internal UI team to help with any challenging design project. All of our design team members have over 10 years of experience working on front-end design. Our teams work closely with the Magento Expert Consulting Group (ECG) to validate designs or create robust new designs that leverage many of the latest Web 2.0 standards.

Alpine Managed Services (AMS):

Some of our clients do not want to be burdened or simply do not have the staff in-house to maintain their ecommerce environments. Alpine offers a comprehensive support and managed service offering that handles all hosting components and everything above the hardware layer. Our simple AMS contracts offer very flexible SLA’s to fit whatever need your business may require.

WHY MAGENTO?

Magento is a robust open-source ecommerce solution that was created to assist online merchants who don’t desire or want to pay for a proprietary solution but need all of the business capabilities and online tooling that the market demands. The Magento solution is one of the most flexible platforms available today and was built with that goal in mind. The solution puts the control back in the hands of the merchant and places no constraints on business processes and flow.

The Magento solution is a professional ecommerce platform that is feature rich and allows business users full control over the interface, content and functionality of the store. The intuitive administrative interface contains numerous tools for marketing, merchandising and content management to meet any challenging online retailer’s demands.
